Bid on your own Tiger...part deux

Remember this post regarding the Hollywood Wax Museum auctioning off its wax statues? The results are in, and they are surprising to say the least.

More than 200 wax figures, including several sports stars, were auctioned off by Calabasas' Profiles in History, in response to the Hollywood Wax Museum's quest to remodel and enlarge its current facility. There were some pretty amazing opportunities to own some major wax, including a statue of Mr. Tiger Woods himself in his dapper Sunday red. In case you weren't paying attention, Tiger's a pretty popular guy in the golf world. My projection was for some golf nut to drop some serious coin on his likeness.

So imagine my surprise when I see (gasp) that Tiger was one of the least popular ones out there! PEOPLE!!!! Why don't you jump at a good thing when you see it?!?

The Tiger figure collected a whopping $1,650. Seems OK on the surface but...many statues hit pay dirt. Jesus and his 12 Disciples earned an impressive $15,340 to lead the pack, followed by The Beatles! - John, Paul, George and Ringo ($12,980) and Michelle Pfeiffer as "Catwoman" from Batman Returns ($8,260) as the top sellers at the auction. Bidders also scooped up Michael Jackson's costume from the 1988 Bad Concert Tour ($35,400) and Jason Voorhees' costume from Freddy vs. Jason ($8,260), also part of the Hollywood Wax Museum's collection. Wax figures of the cast of the *M*A*S*H* TV series ($7,670) and Charlton Heston as "Moses" from The Ten Commandments ($7,080) were other big sellers.

Other highlights included: W.C Fields ($5100); Marilyn Monroe ($5100); Stevie Wonder ($3900); Sylvester Stallone as "Rambo" from Rambo III ($5100); Tom Cruise ($5100); Two separate scenes / figures of Leonardo DiCaprio and Kate Winslet from Titanic ($4800 each) and Bruce Willis as "Dr. Malcolm Crowe" from The Sixth Sense ($4800).

Sports figures were popular as well: Muhammad Ali ($5100); Kareem Abdul-Jabbar ($1800); Michael Jordan ($2700); Joe Montana ($1560); Mike Tyson ($3000); Mark McGwire ($3600); and Hulk Hogan ($3900).

This could be one of the very few competitions that Tiger has ever finished near the bottom.
